Lanco Tanjore Power Company awarded FIVE star Rating by British Safety Council

New Delhi; August 26, 2013: Lanco Infratech Limited (LITL), one of the India's largest integrated infrastructure developers, has announced that its unit, Lanco Tanjore Power Company Limited (LTPCL), operating 120 MW combined cycle power plant in Tamilnadu has been awarded the FIVE STAR rating by the British Safety Council UK for its excellent Health and Safety Management System for the year 2013.

With this, Lanco Tanjore Power Company Limited has added yet another feather in its hat.

Commenting on the occasion of facilitation, Mr. P. Panduranga Rao, CEO, Lanco Tanjore said: "We are delighted that our efforts and commitment towards environment, health and safety management has been acknowledged by British Safety Council. Being honoured as a five star organization demonstrates our continuous commitment to the effective management of environment, health and safety and most importantly the constant efforts of our employees in delivering a high level of performance."

LTPCL went through a robust process of Health and Safety Management System model designed by British Safety Council. It was then successfully audited by the experienced auditor of British Safety Council UK. Achieving more than 92% marks qualified LTPCL for a FIVE STAR certification, making it the first organization in India to be bestowed with such an honour. Considered EXCELLENT globally, the certification was carried out as per the new specification of British Safety Council's Health and Safety Management System comprising of 66 elements.

British Safety Council has said "Organizations that exhibit dedication in continuous improvement in accident and ill health prevention truly deserves recognition. Attaining a FIVE star rating, Lanco Tanjore Power Company Limited is now also eligible to apply for the prestigious award of SWORD OF HONOUR. Organized by British Safety Council UK, SWORD OF HONOUR is considered the top most award in the field of Health and Safety Management which is awarded to few select safest companies and is recognized all over the world."

This FIVE STAR profile covers all the aspects of health, safety and welfare which can be applied to any organization. The robust audit process signifies all the aspects of BEST practices to achieve right capabilities, management structure, business culture to encourage innovation, responsibility, success by business improvement, improved productivity, minimized waste and overall continual improvement.

In India apart from Lanco Tanjore Power Company Limited, only a few other organizations have bagged the credibility of FIVE STAR certification.
